Below is the explanations for the certification:

The Bloodborne Pathogens Certification is awarded upon successful completion of the lifeguard course. This certification is included as part of the lifeguard training, which covers the necessary Bloodborne Pathogens criteria. The course involves an online component, followed by a 15-minute in-class session for review. Participants must complete both the online training and test-out procedures, which are monitored through the online portal and by the instructor of record for the course. The completion is documented in the Jeff Ellis and Associates Pectora Portal by both the participant and the instructor.
